

Project of the Day: The Wallis Annenberg Center for the Performing Arts by Studio Pali Fekete architects [SPF:a]

A revitalization of the long-dormant Beverly Hills post office site brings nightlife and daytime green space to the heart of the Beverly Hills business triangle. The project is a state-of-the-art performing arts center, built on the historic site, consisting of a new 500-seat theater building connected via promenade...continue reading
